

SOMMI PONTIFICI ROMANI

A large, detailed page from a historical reference work, likely an encyclopedia or a specialized dictionary, featuring a grid of numerous small, circular portraits of Roman Popes. The portraits are arranged in approximately 20 rows and 15 columns, with each portrait accompanied by a small block of text, likely a biographical entry or a list of key events. The page is titled "SOMMI PONTIFICI ROMANI" (Great Roman Pontiffs) at the top. The portraits are rendered in a classic, somewhat stylized manner, typical of historical book illustrations. The text is in a small, dense font, and the overall layout is highly organized and systematic. The page is framed by a gold border, and the lighting is warm, suggesting it is part of a book or album.
