

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

A. WHAT ARE SOME DIFFERENT KINDS OF CHEATING?

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

A. WHAT ARE SOME DIFFERENT KINDS OF CHEATING?

- 1. Peeking at another person's homework/test
- 2. Writing answers down on hand, arm, etc.
- 3. Hiding answers under notebook, by feet, etc.
- 4. Plagiarizing from books or the Internet
- 5. Sharing digital assignments (copy/pasting) via e-mail, flashdrive, etc.
- 6. Pulling the "friend card" and asking for answers (FYI: Real friends don't use others for answers or encourage them to sin)
- 7. "Comparing answers" with another student with the intention of changing answers that you didn't get right
- 8. Asking or telling others what is on a test or giving them hints about what to study in order to be ready for a test you already took

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

B. WHAT'S WRONG WITH CHEATING?

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

B. WHAT'S WRONG WITH CHEATING?

- 1. Cheating usually involves using others for your own personal gain
- 2. When you put your name on a test or your homework you are, in a way, declaring that you are the one who completed the work all on your own. If you didn't actually do your own work or know the answers yourself then you are lying about the work/answers being your own.
- 3. Cheating doesn't help you in the moment OR down the road. You do yourself a disservice because you don't learn things that you will undoubtedly use later in life.
- 4. Cheating can start the development of bad, lazy habits which may carry on to high school, college, sports, work, marriage, etc.
- 5. Unless you are paying your own tuition, cheating wastes your parents' money.
- 6. Bringing sin into your life is NEVER a good thing. Even if your teachers, friends, and parents never find out you cheated, GOD knows.